A Bland & Basic Kitchen Now Beachy Chic

Where: Kiawah Island

The Nuts & Bolts: Prior to remodeling, this Kiawah Island kitchen was lackluster with bland countertops, cabinetry, backsplash, and more. As the rest of the home had a fun, eclectic beach vibe, the homeowners hoped to honor that in the kitchen as well. To accomplish this, Hostetler Custom Cabinetry disassembled the original cabinetry and—in an effort to cut costs elsewhere as well as be green—repurposed that cabinetry in other rooms of the house. They then installed custom cabinetry in a tropical turquoise hue, which is further accented by matching cabinetry on the dramatic island. ### New Look for an Old Pool

WHERE: Charleston

THE NUTS & BOLTS: The original five-year-old swimming pool pictured here "before" (built by a contractor other than Aqua Blue Pools) featured a stamped concrete deck that was fading, easily stained, and very hot to the touch. Furthermore, the pool equipment, plumbing, and water features were not functioning and the pool's interior was cracking. To give the homeowner's a pool area that was both aesthetically pleasing and fully functioning, Aqua Blue Pools kicked off the project by adding travertine decking. Additionally, the interior finish of the pool was completely re-done with a Cayman Pebble finish, and the waterline of the pool and spa received a new application of tile. The raised pool wall also received an application of glass tile, and the spa's water spillway material was replaced with a granite slab.
